

Malek Benakli

Malek Benakli is Professor of Hematology since 2011. Expert in bone marrow transplantation and cell therapy, he works in the Hematology and Bone Marrow Transplantation department at Pierre and Marie Curie Center and teaches at the Faculty of Medicine of Algiers. He published numerous publications mainly in the field of hematopoietic stem cells. He is member of many learned societies. Currently, he is Coordinator of Algerian Bone Marrow Transplantation Study Group since 2016 and President of the Algerian Society of Hematology and Blood Transfusion (SAHTS) since May 2013. He organized numerous national and international congresses and training courses with the participation of many colleagues from various nationalities.